“ Deepest condolences to Chris' extended family. He was a dear colleague, whose smile and cheery personality is sorely missed in the office.

“ So saddened to know Chris is no longer among us, but find solace in knowing he is finally at peace. He was a great colleague, always kept me on point with meeting deadlines, always knew how to raise my spirits when facing difficult tasks. He was a true teammate, confidant and great joker - could take one - could tell one - who brought smiles and a sense of confidence in accomplishing the important work we did together. I will miss him more, knowing he really is not returning to work, but know he is in a better place, not suffering, reuniting with old family and friends, and of course will be watching over us all. So watch out his beloved Yankees and Rangers - Chris is seeing all the plays from the best "seat" in the house! Rest now my friend...you are always in my heart.

“ my deepest condolences to Chris' family and friends on his passing. chris was an amazing colleague - and always went out of his way to help us. but more than a colleague - he was a friend - who I loved to talk sports with. I have been missing him in the office over the past year - and quite saddened we will not be able to see each other again. taken from this world way too soon. Michael B.

“ I worked with Chris and it was with great sadness to hear of his passing. I always knew him to be warm, kind, and good humoured. My memories are of laughing with him as we shared a joke or two as we worked together.

My deepest condolences to the Mascaro family.

“ I haven't seen Chris in years but I have thought of him often over the years. He had that effect on people — he left an indelible imprint on everyone he knew. He was a joy to work with and a generous, gentle man. I am deeply saddened to hear of his passing. May God bless him and his family and friends in this difficult time.

“ Chris was a rock of support, with a giving "can-do" nature, who never let anything bother him for very long. He was a fair-minded, giving person, with an inquisitive nature who never stopped learning or growing. He was diligent. He was a hard worker, a colleague, a teacher and most of all, a friend. He got along with everybody -- even those who got under his skin a little bit. He was patient and kind and giving of himself constantly. He'll be missed -- his stay here was far too short. Be well Chris.

“ Chris! My buddy of 18 years. I will miss you terribly. You were one of the great one's at Citi and in this city. I'm so heartbroken. We all are. I know it was tough for you these past couple of years yet you always had the biggest smile at work no matter what. We lost a good man. Class act! They just don't make them like Chris anymore.

Rest in paradise my friend. Thanks for the laughs in good times and bad. My condolences to the Mascaro family. He was truly one of a kind.

See you buddy!

“ My deepest condolences to the family. It was such a pleasure getting to know Chris over the past 3 years while at Citi. One of those guys that touches everyone around him, making the day a little better for everyone he comes into contact with. Always a smile and a can-do attitude, matched with always having kind words to say. We lost a good man. We are all lucky to have had Chris in our lives, and for me personally i am lucky to have considered him a friend. He will be missed, but never forgotten.

“ Chris was a dear friend and fellow colleague. Our bond goes back to high school at John Jay. Chris' gentleness and love, his radiant smile and caring ways will be remembered by all who knew him. Chris was a die-hard Yankee fan. His unwavering love for the NY Yankees was unrivaled. Chris is an example of the fabric of the old Brooklyn - a friend, colleague and most importantly, a true family man. I will miss talking to you about Brooklyn, baseball and your love for you family.

Rest In Peace, My Friend.

“ Chris was as genuine as they come with a great and down to earth sense of humor. I would look forward to walking over to his desk for daily chats whether it be on the Mets/Yankees, sports in general, work, life, and any other random topic/news that were out there. He had such a great balance of sarcasm, realism, and honesty that was gravitating. It's why I always found a reason to walk over and what I will miss the most. My deepest condolences to his family. We'll miss you Chris.
