

Inez Gonzalez

May 23, 1964 - April 20, 2020

Inez Gonzalez, 55 of Staten Island, leaves behind her wife, Rosa Ouye, and her 3 amazing daughters, Samantha, Christina and Amanda, who at the end of the day were the most important people in her life. She worked as a Correction Officer in the State of NY and was honored to serve. The legacy she leaves behind can be seen by the outpouring of love the family has received.

Inez Gonzalez was always referred to as "Mama T". Everyone including our friends and family members always referred to her that way. Even her daughters' teammates would call her that, because she was the ultimate mama bear.

Mama T grew up in downtown Brooklyn, NY. Growing up she used to go fishing with her father and this became one of her lifelong passions. When she had children of her own, she carried on this passion with them. She had such a love for the ocean and with that, family fishing trips became a regular event.

Another passion of Mama T was nature. She loved everything about it. From hiking to camping and bugs, it was one of her favorite places to be in and knew very well. She was a survivalist and to many of us a walking encyclopedia. She had so much wisdom and always knew what to say. She was the greatest protector and anyone around her would feel safe and secure. If anything went wrong, she was the person you go to for advice or even better, to correct it. She just was everyone's' Mama.

Mama T was the most generous person and took pride in everything, including the way she looked. She would never let anyone down. She would never let anyone go hungry as long as she was around. She would and had opened her home to anyone in need, including many friends and family. Her heart was always bigger than her amazing smile and she will always be profoundly missed.

“ I'm speechless... it's been decades since we last saw each other, then I look up at the news this morning and your smiling face was looking back at me, with the words 'Lives to Remember'. Immediately I screamed your name! It was not something I could even fathom. I can still hear your laugh all these years later. This pandemic has been a hell. I pray comfort for your loved ones and rest for you my friend...

“ "Txt Inez, tomorrow night or this weekend. See how she's doing," I said to myself JUST yesterday. I'm too late. The phone rang a few hours ago, she's gone.

The last time we txted I told her where to find gloves, toilet paper, & rubbing alcohol "Yeah? They got the goods?" Inez Gonzalez was my Butch fairy godmother, the baddest Butch I've ever known, make-up, dangling earrings, and all. She knew something about everything. Carpentry, construction, plumbing, electric, cars, she did pest control, was a corrections officer, worked for the medical examiner, the board of health, she dugged out bodies on 9/11, & god knows whatelse she could put on her resume.

Here's what I would put: kind, loving, protective, smart, funny, helpful, so genuine. She absolutely adored her 3 children & worshipped her wife. She always talked about having me over for dinner so I could meet Rosa. We never made that happen. I'm sorry for that.

The last time we hung out we stopped at a bakery she loved in Carroll Gardens, she ordered a hot loaf of bread split open & buttered. "You have to have some." She cracked me up. She said, "you know what I wish for you? I wish for you to find someone to love you the way my wife loves me. You deserve that." She always wanted me to know I was like family. She knew how scared I am of bugs. She laughed at me the first time we met. "Can I ask you something? Is there a reason you pulled out the stove and fridge?" "Um...I will jump on the table & scream like a soprano if I ever was to see a bug! It's so you can get back there." "You're too much" she told me often. She'd shake her head and flash that smile of hers. We just clicked from that point on.

She stayed on as the exterminator at my building even when they stopped paying her on time "for you, but I think I'm gonna have to leave. But I got you. I will always give you service. You're family." The last thing I said to her was "I hope we all come out of this okay."

Somehow I know "she still got me" for as long as I exist; she will continue to be my fairy Butch godmother. Until we meet again my friend, my family. Love you, mami.

“ I knew Inez as a client in her pest control business. I always loved seeing her around the building. She was kind and generous and such a deep nurturing person. She and I would talk about politics, changes she saw at her correcting job and how that would impact the community. And she had such a bright laugh. I will truly miss her.

“ Mama T you left us we are all in disbelief. I will never forget how amazing of an aunt you and Rosa where with my kids. You just loved yelling when you needed something we will all miss that. You always took care of your wife Rosa and your daughters Samantha, Christina, and Amanda they where your first priority you was full of life. Why it had to happen like this I'm mad but I'm not suppose to cause our Lord took you to a better place where there is no pain just love and happiness. Mama T this hurts soooooo much you will never ever be forgotten, you my beautiful sister in law will always be remembered your body may not be here with us but your soul will always be with us watching us. You are a lasting legacy Love You Mama T

“ My dear friend Inez what can I say you were a strong and amazing woman who loved life. Always had a smile and always shined when she saw her wife Rosa and her beautiful daughters Samantha, Christina and Amanda. The best part was the bluetooth she always wore lol... You will truly be missed and I will continue to pray for your family may they find the comfort they need in Gods grace. Love you my friend RIP and may u fly high with the Angel's in Gods kingdom.

“ Mama T use to tell me to keep my head up as many times I would fall , she knew exactly what to say . her words where , Don't let anyone tell u different . But not only to me she was everyone's rock . She was & angel that god sent but now god needed his angel back . So now she will always be watching her family & love ones from heaven, She will never be far but in our hearts always She was the most caring loving person I knew . Till we meet again never gone never forgotten in our hearts always
