“ To My dear Friend John:

We were very close friends and colleagues at Citibank. We met in the mid 70's as clerks and grew to much bigger responsibilities over the years.

I will miss you very much.

Whenever I had a problem small or big John was always there to help. To be with John was always a pleasant experience. His easy manner and jovial personality made any difficult task easier to deal with.

As couples Sophie, Millie John & I attended many bank functions and community dinner dance affairs. We always had fun together. I cherish those memories.

My deepest sympathy to Millie and Family, Our prayers and love are with you. May God bless John and give comfort to the family.

Love,
Sophie & Jim Rocco

“ One of the things I admired most about my Uncle John was his love and devotion to his family. He truly embodied the term “family man.” Nothing else mattered or was more important. One of my fondest memories growing up was one time when our families were on vacation in Pennsylvania. Because there was not much for us to do at night, he drove us all at least an hour away through dark and winding Pennsylvania roads so that we could go roller skating one night. He went out of his way to make us children happy. That was just the kind of person that he was— always putting his family first.

Here's to you Uncle John. May you Rest In Peace. With love, Lorraine

“ My favorite memory of my father and I... way too many to even start?! Big Italian Sunday family dinners, wrestling him in the living room, HeavyBag & weights, CarShows at the colleges and Pergaments, hunting with the boys, Citibank Walk-America, working on cars, mixing cement, learning how to build and do things myself, getting stuck in an elevator with him and both of us having to pee at the same exact time, building his '58 Chevy Impala with him from the ground up, cuttin' a rug with him at family parties, and of course his notorious triple fingered whistle! That whistle meant you better get yourself home if you heard it when he called; and yes you can hear it from a mile away! The list goes on and on and on about my favorite memories of my dad because he really was an amazing person and truly irreplaceable. I, however, have one memory in particular that is very special to me and was always very special to him as well. It was mid November and I was 10 yrs old - He takes me to the movie theater to see Home Alone, and out for pizza afterwards, enough said! All you gotta do is say pizza to a fat kid, and it's on! I had no idea what I was in store for with the movie but my dad convinced me to check it out. The two of us, best of buds in the theater-howling and cackling! I mean genuinely laughing ourselves stupid until our sides hurt. By the end of the movie, I didn't even care about the pizza, but he took me out for it afterwards anyway. He had his own way of doing things and making them count and that's what made him special. Pop, thank you for all my memories, you surely will be missed; & thank you for all you have done for everyone. I'm sorry to you if I caused you any pain or aggravation throughout the years and if I was a down right pain in the ass. Although we may have butted heads on some things, you telling me that you were proud of me and that you loved me is a great thing for a son to hear. My wife and children adored you as well. I'm so glad that you got to develop a bond with them. You will always be in our hearts; rest peacefully, I'll take the reins from here. I love you, your son, pal, and right hand man Mr. Pete

“ Daddy,
There are no words for the emptiness that I feel for you. I feel alone without you here. Please watch over all of us, we need you. I am so sorry that you were alone for so long, suffered alone. My heart will be broken forever and a day. Thank you for the sign that you sent to me yesterday. I miss and love you so much, Daddy.

“ If I were to describe my father, I would say he was like a walnut, hard on the outside and soft on the inside. Being both soft and strong is something few have mastered. My father was a remarkable man and was able to master many, many things. Dad, may you Rest In Peace, love always, your son, Peter, & family.

“ Daddy, Our hearts are broken. You were the first man I ever loved. You taught us so many things, even things you'd only teach a son. Crew Mike & Don...I'll never forget. Best times with the BEST dad. So many memories, a lifetime. I wouldn't even know where to begin or which memories to choose. You were a husband, father, father-in-law, grandfather, friend but so much more. You were tough, never showed love through hugs and kisses, but nevertheless, we ALL knew how much you loved us. I will forever love and miss you Daddy-O and our tv time and jokes on mommy. Although it was not the way it should have been, at least I was able to spend my 50th birthday with you. Until we meet again

“ I had the honor of working with John plus knowing him for many years while @ Citi. You could ask him any operational question w/o worrying that it sounded silly, call him anytime if you needed help or just to run an issue by him for feedback. He was always a gentlemen. Godspeed, John my thoughts/prayers will be with you and your family always!

“ I was introduced to John in 1967 by his cousin Mary Ann who I was dating at that time. Mary Ann and I married in 1969 one year after John and Millie. John and I remained in contact over the ensuing 50 years. When we both worked in Long Island City in the late 1990's he would give me a ride home on most work days saving me a good hour of commuting time. After we both retired in 2004 I would meet him at times at the auto body place he worked in. I was happy that I got to celebrate John's 65th Birthday with his family. I was also glad that he and Millie were able to join my family in celebrating my 70th birthday five years ago. Mary Ann always said that her cousin John had hands of gold. What I found out is that John also had a heart of Gold. Rest in eternal peace my good friend.

“ John was the area operations officer in Staten Island when I worked for Citi. He was always pleasant and helpful. We also met socially and always had a great time. The Christmas parties and bank barbeques were the best.

He was a great guy and I will miss him.
