A New York State decision that those who are vaccinated are no longer required to wear masks. However, our staff who have serviced over 350 covid funeral services safely will wear masks to protect those who have not been vaccinated or those who feel uncertain and our own families. We feel this is necessary because we have handled 8 covid deaths in the month of May and more as of this writing of June 21st.

Due to the current pandemic circumstances please note: We ask that you please send bakery products, fruit baskets, and other personal items to the families home directly. “ Dear Patrick and Dominick and Chris,

So very sorry to hear of your mother's passing.

She was, and ever shall be, so very dear to Maggie and me.

Your mother and I would communicate regularly by telephone, especially remembering Your dad and your grandmother. We shared many hopes, delights within your family and losses within the texture of our mutual love. She was so excited that Maggie and I are becoming grandparents on August 23, When Peter's wife Erin gives birth to their daughter. She gave me the honor of informing me of her being hospitalized and she shared her struggle.

She also shared One remarkable experience, which you may have already heard, that she wrote to her 96-year-old cousin, my sister, Marghie, about her health issues. Marghie, as ever, promptly wrote back to your mother and gave her two rosaries. Your mom shared with me her Profound comfort and gratitude to Marghie for these gifts. She asked me to let Marghie know. You can imagine when I informed my sister how moved your mother was upon receipt of the Rosary beads, Marghie was also profoundly moved and grateful.

I regret that I am not able to be with you at the wake or tomorrow's funeral. I do wish to offer you what I hope will be words of comfort:

That our Lord has prepared a special place for your mother in our Lord's own house, with your dad and all her beloveds.

That her life and love and laughter and light will always be with you and, in fact, you and all of her beloveds continue to bring her life, her love, her laughter and her light into this world. Her gifts continue through you all....

Peace and much love to you and to you beloveds,

MAGgie and John
