“ Eternally thankful that we had an opportunity to make memories just a couple short weeks ago. I'll never forget the look in your eyes as you saw me with Barbara and our children. I believe, in all of my heart, that God brought your daughter and I together in His perfect timing. With just as much certainty, I believe that God enabled our meeting so that you were able to rest assured that your daughter and grandchildren are loved and protected by the husband and father they were always meant to have. I love you, Mom. Rest well in His loving embrace.

“ Mom, I will treasure always, our last conversation. Recalling one of the last things you said to me: "My beautiful Baby, don't cry" before I kissed you and left your side. Not knowing it would be the last time. I love you, Mom and I always will. Eternally. Knowing you're with Grandma who you lost so young and missed so much comforts my soul and makes me so happy for you. No more pain and Addie, Poppa, Uncle Harold, Howie and all of the family waiting to welcome you home. I've heard it said that grief is love with nowhere to go. When you want to share love, thoughts and memories with someone who is not here on Earth any more.. Well, we will do our best not to cry & grieve because the love has somewhere to go. We raise it up to God. Rest easy, Mom. We miss you and we will continue to, until we are all reunited again.
