“ Camille , where do I begin .

I met Camille through my mom who was one one the 238 after school moms in Brooklyn .

I remember her walking down the street towards the school with a huge key ring hanging on her wrist She was coming to pick up the kids .i was so intrigued by the key chain , I made my own . We recently had conversations about it along with the Mona nick name she gave me -

I was quite moody as she said when I came out of school so I inherited her nick name - Mona !

And since then we created a bond forever .we had many fun times just standing outside the school gates with all the other Moms .

I learned how to make brandy or (rum) balls from her which became a staple -

I remember changing her wall clock on April fools day -and when she found out, she threw a shoe at me as I ran down the stairs.

I remember the family's pet turtle named Saugerties !!

I can go on but what I will remember most is how special she was to me ❤️💔

Rest In Eternal peace Camille (Big Mona)

With all my heart , I will miss her

“ I will forever remember Camille as the fun loving kind friend who you could tell anything to. She was everyone's confidant and could connect with anyone: older than her, younger than her, it didn't matter. I met her as the mom of one of my friends. Within a few months i was as close to her as i was to Ralph. A year later she was one of my closest friends.

In my memory, she will forever be sitting in her kitchen as Rob or Ralph were beating me at Rummy 500, asking about my life and just listening.

You were more than the cool mom. You were my friend and i will never forget you.

“ I remember sitting in your house on East 9th Street drinking coffee and talking all morning long. I remember getting a kitten that was in your backyard and you said it was meant for me to take her. I remember the sound of the boys laughter as they played in your pool in the summer, I remember those good times at P.S. 238 (when you always had the Thermos filled with coffee). I know you are with Freddie now and you are at peace...Rest easy old friend

“ Camille was a beautiful woman. I am so saddened by the loss of both Camille and Fred. They meant so very much to me and especially Ralph. Ralph and Fred grew up together and Fred was best man to Ralph.

I met Camille and Fred when Ralph and I were dating. When we became engaged it was at the Brooklyn house with Camille and Fred. Camille offered me the use of her beautiful wedding gown with the white fur collar and if weren't for the extensive renovations needed to fit me...I would have worn it.

Ralph and I spent the most enjoyable times with Camille and Fred. The Sunday pasta dinners, the weekends playing games and eating sandwiches and Chinese food.

Camille was generous, warm hearted person, giving of herself and Fred had the most infectious sense of humor. To me they were a magical couple. They hosted great family get togethers. All were welcomed. They have three wonderful sons and their families.

Camille will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

There are so many wonderful, warm memories that I will always cherish.

Both Camille and Fred will forever remain in my heart.

“ Our sister-in-law, Camille was a giving person. Her home was open to everyone and she catered to everyone's needs. If you were diabetic, she had sugar free cookies for you. If you didn't eat red meat, she had chicken for you. She went above and beyond to accommodate everyone.

We were married to brothers. Sisters- in-law, but she was truly my sister. I was an only child, she only had brothers, as did our husbands' sister, MaryAnn.

You could tell Camille anything and know that what you said would go no further. She was not a gossip & she could keep a secret.

After Freddie died, I had many dreams of him. When I'd tell Camille I had a dream, she'd say, "What did he do now?"

Her children and grandchildren are suffering a great loss, but have wonderful memories.

We'll see you in our dreams, Camille.
