“ I wrote something but forgot to sign in lets begin again.
I lived next door to your your grandma Alice and your mom Linda who was just a child at the time. We were all poor but had great fun. By the time I married we all lost contact for we all moved away. By chance my sister Ellen met either your mom or grandma and we were all together again. Who knew that your mom and aunt Dottie only move up the block and across the street. your was married To Julio and had three beautiful children. You guys all look like your mom and dad who are both good looking.

How proud your parent's were of you Craig, Lisa and Krystal. You were all so loving, polite and fun to be around. When I called your grandma Alice I had no idea about what to you. Alice could hardly speak through here tears. I couldn't call you Linda because all I would do is cry. I understand the death of a child from a sickness but not a death by a so-call accident.

A man once said to me before he died, God needs me for something special. He die from cancer. He said as if God had spoken to him we are going to have some very bad times Katy. He then said he needs me at the round table.

We are all having hard times with the world right now so I will think that you Craig are at this table helping God with the world.

I must believe this for you are one of the good guys Craig. You come from good stock as my mama would say.

I ask the Lord to bring you wife, children, parents, grandparents and your sister peace at this time in their lives.

When I look at your photo Craig I see a man and not the teen I remember. You know you and your sisters got the best of your parents.

Always in my heart,
