“ Uncle Gaspare was an amazing influence on my life. His sense of calm, and his constant ability to just make a room light. I don't have words to really put how much he meant to me, and how deeply his passing has shaken me. I only hope I can continue to live in a way that he would be proud, cause I will always be proud he was in my life.

“ Uncle Gaspare, You know what you meant to me. Although some people miss the opportunity to tell someone the significance of someone in their life, I know it meant a lot to you that I had told you many times & that significance led to Tommy's accomplishments. I know it meant a lot to you. We both came from humble beginnings. My whole life you were always there, so many memories. I am so blessed that you sat with Michael & I at Paul's wedding to share those memories & what they meant to us and then again after Andrew's graduation we spent time together reminiscing about all those we loved & the memories. It meant so much to me that you & Aunt Annette came with Michael & I to the Brooklyn Tech Reunion & your telling of your treasured memories there. I know there was a special bond between the two of us because you were an only child & I was a mother of an only child. You knew my worries about that. You are with your True Love Now. And, we all will miss you both until we all meet again at Grandma's Heavenly long table with the white table cloths, like the one during holidays in her Jewel Ave. Apt. living room, to eat, talk, laugh, have more relatives come over & play cards. I love you forever. Love Forever, Cherie

“ Uncle Gaspare had accomplished much, and had much of which to be proud. When I first met him, he shared yet another accomplishment; both he and I graduated from Brooklyn Technical High School! At Cherie's and my wedding, he heard my Best Man speak of our years at "Tech", Uncle Gaspare came over and said: " I went there, too." Our friends have a tradition to sing the "Alma Mater" at special occasions. Uncle Gaspare was the only Engineer in our group of six alumni. He joined us with that big, wonderful smile on his face. Whenever we met thereafter, he always had a story of his days at Tech. I will miss you. May your memory be a blessing. May your children and grand-children always remember you with a smile, that big wonderful smile. With Love,
Your Nephew, Michael
