“ When I think of Saint Paddy's and all the wonderful time's we spent at Joe and Carla's over the years, I remember how Jimmy was such a big part of that celebration. He was always there sitting at the table having conversations with everyone. People just gravitated to him because he was so personable and funny. I remember seeing him at work through out my career on wall street and he would always stop by for a friendly conversation. Jimmy will be missed by all the people who's life he had touched. A kind soul with a heart of gold. May your soul soar on the wings of angels to our father in heaven. We were so blessed to have known you.

“ We will miss all the gatherings you’ve come to through the years here or even occasionally when we went Rosalie’s for coffee on Sunday mornings. At our house, you were always the first to show up! Gave us a little time to chat and catch up (you with your favorite scotch in hand) and us still prepping. The holidays, dinners or events. RIP Jimmy. We loved you and you will be greatly missed ❤️

Writing this is so hard for me. I keep writing something then erasing it. Its so hard to come up with just one memory of someone so special. I thought of a few memories that will always make me smile.

When Matthew was in T-ball you showed up to every game you could. It was torture to watch these little kids play so bad, however you showed up and it meant the world to us. I will never forget when Matty finally hit the ball and on his way to first base, he stopped to blow me a kiss, the look on your face was priceless!!

I will miss having my political partner at parties!!

The way you would tell a story, Alright! three times in sentence.

I will never forget the motorized car you bought for Jacob when he was two!! He was so happy.

You always asked about me and the boys. That meant a lot.

You were always so generous and kind. One of my favorite people. Still cant believe you are gone. We know you are watching over us, and agreeing with me as I argue politics with the family:)

We will all miss you very much!!
