“ As tears well up in my eyes, I am so deeply saddened having just learned of the passing of my precious friend and mentor, Josephine Ierilli.

I just sat down to begin my annual Christmas card special notes and inscriptions, when I looked down at my list to find Josephine's name right at the very top. Since I had not heard from her recently, I went to the computer to look her up (as I did not have any other contact information for her except for her name and address). To my sorrow, I learned of her passing... and just a few weeks ago!

I am Donna Parker, age 69 from Brooklyn NY. Josephine first knew me as Donna Esposito. I currently live in Fort Myers, SW Florida after "I" retired from NYC Board of Education nearly 18 years ago. I can be found on Facebook as Donna Esposito-Parker.

I have had the honor and pleasure of knowing "Miss Ierilli" since I was 14 years old when I began my very first after school job as a tutor at my former elementary school where she was the Assistant Principal under Vera Behra, Principal (my school was PS 77 which was demolished and the new replacement school became PS 321 Park Slope Brooklyn, where Josephine was the AP). I was attending JHS 51 at the time, just a few blocks away. "Miss Ierilli" was my supervisor. That was the beginning of my endearing and enduring relationship with this beautiful woman and educator. We never lost touch through high school and during college when I did some of my community service at her school. Never a Christmas went by without my receiving wonderful greetings from Josephine ALWAYS with her vivid updates on her travels. She never failed to inquire about my life and my sons in each note. I see her face to the side of this page and my heart leaps joyfully knowing that I was one of the countless people in this lifetime who have been forever abundantly blessed to know Josephine. She was such a gentle woman –so eloquent, so articulate and highly intelligent. I so looked up to her and will never ever lose her memory from my mind and heart. "Rest in peace" my amazing friend and mentor... I will miss hearing from you so very very much!
