“ In addition to Judy being a devoted wife, daughter and loving mother, she was a wonderful and caring sister. When we were younger, on Sundays, she took us out to central park, various local parks and on the Staten Island ferry. Judy taught us the latest 60's dances, bought us albums and taught us styles of clothing, what colors went with what shirts and pants, and to never, never wear white after Labor Day, a rule I follow to this day. She would help me with my homework and sneak me candy, when I was being punished. I could call Judy anytime for advice or to just vent about things. She loved the family dearly and shared in all our joys and sorrows. Judy will be greatly missed. Love, Pat

“ It was right after Pat and Jimmy got married...Jim and Pat and Donna and I were going to drive Jimmy's best man back (to where he lived)...being the young girls that we were, (Donna and I) we were getting ready, dressing nice, putting on lipstick, and putting hot rollers in our hair...One got stuck in Donna's hair! We tried, unsuccessfully to get it out....it kept getting more tangled.... Judy's advice was : "Wear a Hat...no one will notice!"
