“ For those of you who knew my much loved cousin, Marlene, this will not be surprising at all.

A school assignment as a young girl was to write a short poem. The teacher felt it necessary to send a copy of Marlene’s poem home to her mother. Here goes...

*“Little Birdie In The Sky
Why’d You Do That In My Eye?
Am I Sure Glad That Cows Can’t Fly.”*

*She will be missed.

“ Marlene was my Nextdoor neighbor for over twenty years. She loved my dog Damien and he would always come over to visit and she would throw him treats across the fence. Damien loved her right back. She used to hide and sneak cigarettes and tell me shhh not to tell anyone. Love and miss her.
