“ I've wrestled with my emotions for over a month now. I prayed for you and I'm happy you get to see Bobby, Nancy, Barney and your parents again. I wish we had a better father son relationship. I mourned what should have been.

What I can say is that I'm happy that you had a great relationship with Bridget, Billy, Sean, Kyle and Bobby. You guys all share great memories and I was always genuinely happy that you guys had that. My siblings would tell me very funny stories from the past with you that I wish I could've been a part of.

I do know that you loved them immensely and it showed.

Your boys and your only daughter grew up to be very strong and successful adults. Your daughter is a fantastic mother to your two grand daughters. They are your legacy. You would be so proud of them!

Your up in heaven where the craziness of this world no longer exists. Reunited with family and friends that you missed so dearly.

Rest in sweet peace father. God bless you in paradise!

“ The one day I remember most, is the day I turned 10 years old. You told me, “...it’s time to be a big boy, you’re in the double digits now”. I remember, because I hated that couch you were sitting on, and I was playing with my Hulk- Hogan action figure. That one statement has been playing over and over in my mind recently to the point where I can actually hear you saying it. I remember the good times, like going to Palmer Video store to rent “WrestleMania” videos and horror movies like “Cabin Fever”, playing the racing car game at Mr. Pals convenience store while you had a chat and a beer with him and Dee, how you used to bribe us with Caramel candies and Starbursts if we promised not to tell Mom that you bought a beer...LOL! I remember when you used to play-attack Mom and have King attack you...all in good fun; never hurt. King wouldn’t attack anyone viciously. I remember your silly comments about Lucky our cat....(family joke) and when we used to wait for the “Beep, Beep” as you pulled into the buildings. There were fun times, and as every family deal’s with, not great times. During your life, you made good decisions and bad. One of the best...marrying Mom. She gave you five amazing, well-rounded, hard-working and caring children. Although there were difficult times, you were blessed to have had two great women in your life: our Mother and your Daughter, our sister, Bridget. Neither, ever gave up on you. You were and will always be a lucky man. You also have 6 amazing sons, now men..., all of who love you. We all turned out great and all hold your name to continue it on. Despite the bad times, the good times mean everything now. When one passes, only the good memories last, as they should, and thankfully they have. Realizing that GOD called you home early is upsetting, but you, DAD, are in a much better place. You’re back with your Son, Mom, Dad, Sister and Brother as well as other loved friends and family. You had a short life, you were a short man...lol, but our love for you is extensive. We will miss you, WE love you. Rest in Peace Dad.

“ The Broken Chain - We knew little that day, God was going to call your name. In life we loved you dearly, in death, we do the same. It broke our hearts to lose you. You did not go alone. For part of us went with you, the day God called you home. You left us beautiful memories, your love is still our guide. And although we cannot see you, you are always at our side. Our family chain is broken, and nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again. Rest In Peace, Dad!!! I pray you found Booms and are together in Heaven watching over the family until we meet again. 💔🍀 ☐
