“ *Raymond was a prince of a man, a true mans man. A sweet and generous man. We used to call him Sugar Ray cause he was just that . A man who did all the right things in life and never gave up on anything. Kept his head high and soldiered on. He always had kind words for us boys growing up. . Knowing that he loved his family and extended family very much and his love for his granddaughters was paramount . He did live the American dream.. I'll always have the fondest memories of him. They don't come any finer than Raymond Torres. He will be Missed always!! . Rest Peacefully because I know your with the angels now . I'll See you up there someday my friend.. With much love to Anna ,Trina ,Vito on your loss of a great man.....

“ How do I put into words what my Poppy meant to me? As a little girl, he was the one who took care of me everyday. I even had a girl doll that I named Poppy Raymond, because I loved him so much. I remember sitting in the car giving him directions how to get to my preschool, and to dance. I remember getting a big blue ice at the corner store on Main Street after dance. I remember going to Toys R Us and Poppy buying me all the candy I wanted that Mommy said I wasn't allowed to have. I guess that's what Poppy's were for. The second to last time that I saw my Poppy I made sure Al and I stopped to get him cherry ice, because he hadn't been eating.. As my sister fed him the ice, he just kept saying, "This is DELICIOUS"! It made us so happy! He kept telling us what nice ladies we were (he had Alzheimer's) and he wanted to go home with us. We played Spanish music for him too. The last time I saw my Poppy, he wasn't doing so well, but I walked over to him, touched his face, and he said "Hi Baby". I don't know if for that second he knew who I was, but I will forever remember that moment. I love you Poppy! Rest peacefully now.

“ I heard from my brother Iván the sad news of uncle Ramón's passing.

My father Juan was told by Iván and he informed my sister Dalia.

I told also Titi Lisín, Geñito and Jenny.

Warm hugs to Aunt Anna, Trina, and Vito.

Sincerely,

Valéry
