“ Although Richie was officially my cousin, I'll always think of him as my uncle. When he and Angela moved into the upstairs apartment during my teen years, it changed my life. Richie's humor and exuberant joy in living was infectious. He could go from silly and bawdy to touchingly serious in an instant, and always seemed to know just the right thing to say to brighten any situation. From the first day I met him to the last time we talked, he was a beacon of joy focused on the important things in life. I wish I could be there on Friday to say goodbye, but I know he would understand.

We're not blood related but family none the less... When we knew Angela and Richie were going to be at the same function, we couldn't wait. Richie always made us laugh and teased the heck out of me. May he Rest In Peace. To Angela & kids: hold your memories close. Be blessed.
