“ Rose, was indeed a natural, beautiful and precious like an expensive bunch of roses. Her style was classy and tasteful. Rose was a nonsense woman who told you her mind very bluntly.

The greatest and envious page from her life's journey, is her love for family. Christine, Joyce and Dennis were her milk and honey. The others were the biscuit and grape jelly, or better yet chocolate ice cream!

I worked as her aide for a year and her personality grew on me like fine wine.

Joyce, thanks for having me and most importantly, continued the mother and daughter bond that you had with Rose, tighten even more with Christine.

Uncle Dennis, telling Rose you were coming over, man, she would literally jump out the bed and constantly run her fingers through her Lucille Ball red hair. Lol

Your love and loyalty is unmatched.

God be with the entire family.

*Love respectfully,
Tilisa Wright*

“ Rose was always the sweetest lady when I say lady I mean that in the true sense of the word. As her Granddaughter Christine’s Godmother I feel she always welcomed me into her family with that beautiful way that only Rose could do. Rest easy dear lady Rose in the arms of your husband and your son Tommy. 🙏💔 Love Pat
