“ I always remember my uncle as being so much fun. Our families would vacation together every summer when I was young and my uncle would be in the water with all us kids trying to teach us to dive. I was very scared and he would coax me to jump in and usually get me to do it. When we traveled, my dad would have the maps and lead our little caravan and I would look out the back window and know my uncle was right behind us. These are some of my fondest memories!
